Subject: The 2019-2020 Web Catalog and the Interactive Academic Catalog in PDF are Live!

Date: April 11, 2019

I am so pleased to announce that both the web-based catalog and the interactive online PDF catalog for 2019-2020 are available today. Access the interactive downloadable PDF version through the icon on your desktop or here and the web version here. This year we have been able to reintroduce the "Administrative Officers and Faculty" section to the PDF version, beginning on page 418.

The online catalog provides excellent resources for faculty, staff, and students as students develop their pathways to academic success. The following links provide access to specific tools for faculty, staff, and students:

- Academic Program Advisors
    - the full list of all program advisors and links pointing to the catalog program page and the advising guide for each program
- Program Advising Guides
    - full list of guides for all associates degrees and certificates
- Academic Programs and Departmental webpages:
    - curriculum and course descriptions sections on these pages are being imported directly from the catalog and are being refreshed nightly

The interactive catalog in PDF has many advantages to users.

- The interactive catalog is always up-to-date (refreshed automatically every night)
- The interactive catalog has flexible and convenient printing options to local network printers
- The interactive catalog is easily accessible via a web browser
- The interactive catalog has the same content and format as the print catalog
- It can be bookmarked for easy retrieval, and sections can be printed if people want to have a paper version.

The College will continue to perform regular and ongoing maintenance. If you have an update or need assistance, please contact Ms. Veronica Banh via email or phone, 240-567-5018. On that note, I thank Ms. Banh for her incredible work on this endeavor.
